PROFILE INFO

I am a Web Developer with experience in both backend and frontend development. I have particular expertise in WordPress and extensive knowledge of programming languages such as HTML5, JavaScript, CSS, NodeJS, Bootstrap, React, and MongoDB. Additionally, I am an Android developer with experience in Kotlin. Apart from my development skills, I am also an experienced graphic designer with a strong sense of design and a deep understanding of color theory, typography, and layout.

WHAT I CAN OFFER?

As a Web Developer with expertise in Android app development using Kotlin, hybrid apps using React Native, and WordPress websites, I also possess skills in React/Nextjs. I have experience completing detailed programming and development tasks for both frontend public and internal websites, as well as handling challenging backend server code. I am well-versed in working with databases like Nodejs,MongoDB and Firebase.
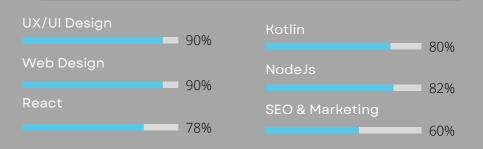

My experience includes working on significant web applications like Ploteye and freelancing for clients, creating websites for coffee shops, restaurants, personal portfolios, and cleaning companies.

I have a strong proficiency in design software such as Figma, Adobe XD, and Photoshop. My ability to create visually appealing designs that effectively communicate messages is notable. My passion for creativity and willingness to experiment and take risks in design is evident. Moreover, I demonstrate the capability to work effectively both independently and as part of a team.

In summary, I possess a diverse skill set that combines both development and design expertise, making me a valuable asset in creating innovative and well-rounded web and mobile applications.
